Giving Back to The Community

- University of Central Florida - Rosen Hospitality Management School
Restaurant Design Course (16 weeks) - Tom Galvin gives back to the community through his involvement in the Restaurant Design course. Tom lectures and teaches about restaurant design programming and kitchen layout for the back and front of house. Students are exposed to the importance of how kitchen design can make or break a restaurant. At the end of the semester the students are divided into groups to develop a restaurant and present it to a panel of nine invited guest who are leaders in the hospitality industry as their final exam. The panel critiques each group as they are presented.
- Fall Program - Hotel Design
- Spring Program - Restaurant Design Operations
